Pain in the Back

A Sure Sign of Kidney Trouble. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will cure you.

Pain in the back is a never failing sign of kidney disease; another sure sign is the condition of the urine; if you have a pain in the back then look to the condition of your urine. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine; after it has stood 24 hours, if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, pale or discolored, stringy or ropy, your kidneys and bladder are in a dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences may prove fatal.

F. O. Wilcox of 559 New Britain ave., Hartford, Conn., says:

"I had a frightful pain in my back, the result of kidney trouble. My physician seemed powerless to relieve me. I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy; it helped me wonderfully, and in a short time cured me completely."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer on the system. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often, especially at night, and drives away that scalding pain in passing water and in a remarkably short time makes you well and strong.

All druggists sell Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

Pioneers of Magalloway

From Otisfield and Oxford.

John Lombard of Otisfield came to the Magalloway about the year 1828, locating on the northern slope and near the foot of the hill afterward occupied by the Lombard family.

Who is now the owner of the property, Lombard and others. He was a pioneer settler and became a sort of patriarch or leading man in the infant community. His farm being of sufficient altitude to escape the severity of June and September frosts, was very productive.

From the profits thereof and of a small country store which he kept, he soon attained an enviable and influential local position, which he held for many years. With an intelligent and prepossessing family of sons and daughters his house was a favorite resort of the rising generation, and the place was the scene of many pleasant memories to be recalled by now aged people, of festive scenes and enjoyable occasions at his hospitable and ample abode, none appreciating or favoring such occasions more than the ever genial host.

That time changes all. After burying his aged father, two wives and his eldest son beneath the soil of his isolated domain, and becoming himself enfeebled by sickness and the infirmities of age, he sold out his possessions, abandoned the Magalloway and passed his few remaining years near the scene of his early manhood. His final departure from our shores was some twelve years previous to the great Civil War, in which one of his younger sons, John, fell nobly in the cause of liberty and the Union at the bloody battle of the Wilderness.

Joseph Sturtevant of Oxford, settled in 1831 on the summit of the hill occupied by John Lombard and Israel Linnell, and cleared up with great labor a large and very productive farm, which has ever remained entirely surrounded by forest. He was a man of cheerful and convivial temperament, and with a large family of sons and daughters, all more or less inclined to look on the bright side of life, his home was long the center of rural gaiety for many miles around. Two gifted violinists in the family furnished not only their home but the whole surrounding region with the required melody for any festive occasion, and as the sons were teachers in music, so were the daughters in the graceful art of keeping time thereto with their nimble feet on the dancing floor.

Mr. Sturtevant confined his life quite exclusively to the severe labor of his rugged farm and grove, and thereby lived many years; but grief came at last to that joyous household when the second son, and afterward the almost idolized mother, were consigned to the grave. The halcyon days of mirth and song in that happy home slowly were passing, the family scattered to widely separated localities, until none but the aged father, of that once loving throng, remained. The lonely father eventually married a second time, but survived the dear companion of his better days only 12 years. He died in 1860 at the age of 72, and was buried near his own sumptuous "house in the wilderness."

The life of David M., eldest son of Joseph Sturtevant, presents an example of industry, of fortitude, and of perseverance in the midst of misfortune without parallel in the history of the Magalloway, and rarely surpassed in the annals of mankind. In the winter of 1845, soon after the death of his mother, he commenced lumbering in his majority, near Errol, N. H., and never within the memory of our oldest inhabitants has there been another so disastrous a lumbering operation as that.

Hardly a man who entered the woods at that ill-fated job came out well, and whole. One man, John Bennett, Jr., was killed instantly by a falling tree, another who stood by his side was injured and narrowly escaped death by the same stroke; a steamer was soon afterward jammed between his sled and a wayside stump, and finally Mr. Sturtevant himself was struck above the knee with the whole blade of an axe and saved from immediate death only by the vigorous efforts of the crew, who conveyed him to his home as soon as possible, dashing snow in his face continually to keep the breath of life in his body. Many months elapsed before he again stood on his feet, but with all the surgical skill employed, he never recovered the use of his knee, and the amputation of a hard labor since performed by him on that straight and rigid leg has never been equalled by any neighbor, however nimble, healthy or sound.

In 1847 he commenced the erection of what has since been known as Sturtevant's pond, where the loose nature of the soil rendered such an undertaking somewhat unpropitious. He had hardly got the dam completed and his mill in operation, when the labor and hopes of many months were apparently annihilated.

He immediately repaired the damage and resumed business, when away went the water supply again, and again swept away by a fresh deluge, leaving the confidence of all but himself in the ultimate success of the enterprise. Again was the dam repaired, and again swept away, by which time Mr. Sturtevant, concluding he had lost enough by building on so uncertain a foundation, abandoned the project and his expensive mill to oblivion and decay.

Michael M. Sturtevant had been lumbering to some extent in the winter and farming in summer. Not long after the events just narrated, when he had just finished his summer harvest, his barn took fire, and was consumed, with a valuable young horse. The barn was immediately rebuilt, but Mr. Sturtevant soon afterward moved to a larger place, commenced farming on a more extended scale, took to himself a wife and rapidly advanced, both in prosperity and posterity.

In 1861 the dreadful scourge of diphtheria broke out in his infant family and swept away his young wife and five children of one year, as an indication for the half-distracted father longer to live. But employment of the hands is a great healer of the mind, and Mr. Sturtevant, plunging desperately into the cares and duties of his several farms, avoided what under similar circumstances might have been the sad fate of his family. He therefore recovered rapidly from his financial embarrassments, came into possession of more real estate than any four other men in the river, and was virtually landlord and banker of the whole settlement, but misfortune had not yet lost sight of her favorite victim.

In the autumn of 1879 again his well filled barn and all his other buildings were burned to the ground, and not a cent of insurance was there to atone for the disastrous loss. The calamity, however, was not as heavy on him as those of previous years. His son had now become a substantial help in the business, and together they soon had a much better set of buildings, including a barn 100 feet long, a handsome residence and a small store building, now well filled with the great variety of goods indispensable to back country trade.

Mr. Sturtevant is now in his 84th year, hale and hearty, weighs as usual, 200 pounds or more, drives his own team in summer or winter as occasion requires, attends church as often as he has opportunity, and is respected and favorably known throughout a wide extent of country. [Berlin Independent.]

Doan's Kidney Pills, A Modern Medicine for Every Kidney Ill.

Mr. T. H. Hughes, of Saxtons River, Vt., employed by B. F. Locke & Co., says: "My kidneys did not act properly for years, and I gradually grew on. For two or three years they troubled me very much with a numb, aching pain across my back and in my loins. I stood on my feet for any length of time, I felt the pain across my back and my legs became numb. When the pain in my back got so bad that I could stand it no longer, I put on plaster, and I used a great many of them, but they did not reach the cause. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and so well recommended, that I was induced to give them a trial, and I got them at Andrew's drug store. They gave me immediate relief. After the treatment I seldom felt any symptoms of my former troubles, but when I did I took a few of Doan's Kidney Pills and it soon left me. My rheumatic pains were not so severe, and I did not have that tired, languid feeling. I had more energy in doing my work and give all the credit to Doan's Kidney Pills. They did me a great deal of good, and I feel justified in recommending them to others as a good and reliable medicine."

PATTON PAINT CO.
Sullivan, N. H.

I've been shining now for ages
On the paint that people use,
But methinks I've got the blues;
For I struck a kind this morning
That would not grow quickly faded,
And I found by testing yours
That "Patton's Sun-Proof Paint."

Why, I shone and shone upon it
So to make the paint degrade,
And I nearly had a sun-burst
Over this stuff that you have made.
When I saw my work quite useless
Then I called on every saint;
But they, too, could not affect it—
'Twas your "Patton's Sun-Proof Paint."

And now, sirs, here's my order:
Fifty gallons sent to me,
Of your brightest golden color,
And please send it G. O. B.
You see the Sun needs painting!
And I want something quaint!
So I thought I'd send an order
For your "Patton's Sun-Proof Paint."

Yours truly,

U. S. Separators
Lister's Fertilizers
Harrows, etc.

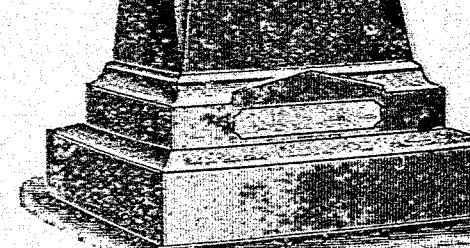

The National Standard Fire Extinguishers
are generally admitted to be the best.
I am selling them. You cannot afford to risk your life and the lives of your family and animals, your home and your property without one or more of them placed where they can be reached readily in case of fire or lightning or any other cause. They are better than a gun to turn on a burglar that may get into your house.

I am still selling the U. S. Separators. They have been improved in construction and capacity and are better than ever. I intend going among the people on my territory soon, to show them the merits of this machine.

I shall handle Lister's Fertilizers this year as usual and shall be glad to supply my neighbors as in the past. We are selling Grain and Flour very low. If you want any kind of a Harrow come and see me.

Personal Reminiscences.

The late Centennial of the Universalist church in Norway awakens many historical memories in my mind. If the relation be not too egotistic, you are at liberty to publish or put into the waste basket.

My parents were born in Norway, Me.
My mother was born upon Pike's Hill.
My father in a little house which once occupied the lot where now stands the brick mansion of Dr. Asa Danforth.
In 1802, came my grandparents
from New Gloucester, Maine. Joseph Gallison was the first pastor of Norway.
His buildings were, as stated, upon the Dr. Danforth lot. The old house was later moved down Danforth street and made into a tenement house. Its after-fate I do not know. The little batten-shop was bodily hauled up the street and became a portion of the ancient "Shackley store."

In Norway, a large family was born to Joseph and Hannah (Atwood) Gallison.
While early residents of Norway, they became identified with the primitive Universalist church; of this my grandfather was one of the charter members and chorists for some years. He was also a charter member of Oxford Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. Living to be nearly ninety years of age, he was the last surviving member of both the Universalist church and the Oxford Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons.
He was buried from the church in Norway, January, 1890. His grave is in Norway Pine Grove Cemetery. My father, John Murray Gallison, was named for the famous Rev. John Murray, one of the earliest, if not the first, Universalist ministers in Maine, if, indeed, not the first in this country.

The little church, which I remember well, was sold, I think, to the Methodists and moved across or nearly across the street. After some years it was dismantled somewhat and purchased by Thomas E. Beal or others, who moved it up by the side of the stream in the rear of the famous "Crockett store." Here it became in turn a carriage shop, a steam mill, and at last a tannery, owned by the late Ceylon Watson.

If my memory serves me correctly, it was at one time used as a foundry and machine shop by Charles L. Mallett, before the Civil War.

I well recall, once upon a time, when a young lad at work for Mr. Beal, it was the whistles and bells were ringing, over my head was the arched plastered ceiling of the little Universalist church, which, from the steam mill chimney, caught on fire. The burning chimneys dropped, my defenseless brethren, just as the ancient fire engine, the "Oxford Bear," appeared upon the busy scene. Sturdy Norway firemen soon extinguished the flames and the historic little church was saved. Of its after history I know nothing.

I well remember the sermon of Rev.
John L. Stevens and that of the late Rev.
J. C. Snow. For a long time myself and future wife were members of his Sunday school. The marriage of Rev. Mr. Snow to Miss Howe is recalled with pleasure.
I well remember with my homespun suit, of joining the "well appeared throng" that visited with congratulations the newly wedded pair at the house of the father-in-law, Jeremiah Howe.
I well remember the energetic church choir led by the merchant and manufacturer of Norway, the energetic church choir
Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., William Wirt Virgin,
Horace Cole and many other musical Norwegians. To my rustic par, no music has ever seemed so fine.

My uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lombard were members of the church. With them I occupied a wing pew upon the left of the pulpit. This was the arrangement of seats at that time, which I believe was afterward altered.

Upon my mental retina the faces of congregation, clergymen and choir are indelibly stamped. Nearly all have gone over the river. It is with happiness that I add my mite to the perpetuation of these beloved memories.

HANOVER.

It is reported that Harvey Powers has sold his farm to Mr. Davis of Newry.

Parties were in town, last week, looking over the Chapman place with a view to buying.

Miss Staples left, Monday morn, for a visit with old pupils in Turner. She will remain a week or ten days.

Frank Russell's incubator hatched 89 chicks, which are a lively lot. He has another with 150 eggs, which are due to hatch this week.

Quite a number of fishermen were ready with their lines as soon as the ice went from Howard's pond. Very few fish were ready for the hook.

OUTSIDE.

Mayflowers are very plenty.
Mrs. Abbot Nutting is better.

Mrs. Gilman Nutting is very much better.
Some of the farmers in this vicinity have sowed their onions.

Mrs. Sarah Weston is staying at Dr.
James Nutting's at Hallowell.

Bertha Knight of Naples is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Morey.

Wyatt Edwards went fishing at Sebago lake, last week, and met with good success.

Stephen C. Maxfield and family of Sebago Lake visited at Hiram Edwards' last week.

Gene Edwards and Algernon Smith
work for George Scribner on the road,

Forty Charter Members.

The Knights of Pythias met and organized a lodge here, last Thursday, the 17th. There was a large assembly.
About 300 people were present from Portland, Bridgton and other lodges.
There was a banquet, after which began the work of organizing and electing officers. It took all night, and not until the dawning did the bells ring, announcing that a new lodge had sprung up in a night, consisting of about 40 charter members.

The "Waterford Beech Hill Mica Company" intend to commence work on their mines as soon as their products on hand are disposed of. This company is well equipped for business, having a buhr, drill and all the apparatus necessary to work the mines.

Mr. Potter of Rumford was in town, last week. He is a member of the Waterford Mica Mining Company. The work on the mine has commenced. The grinding mill they have purchased in Colorado cannot be got here and set up for operations to begin for three months, so it is reported. It will take that time before they can begin to grind their scrap mica, but they can begin quarrying at once.

The very pleasant rooms of their nice new house were filled to overflowing and the evening passed very pleasantly and also quickly with what and gray sociability. Refreshments of coffee, cake, cheese and home-made candies were served.

Maine Horses Get a Big Boom.

Elmwood Stud Farm Proves its Superiority
The past week has been eventful in the history of horse breeding in Maine and especially to its largest and most complete establishment, Elmwood Stud Farm, Lewiston Junction. For twelve years J. S. Sanborn, the proprietor, has been going about his task of building up the largest and best road horse breeding establishment in the East, holding closely to his original plan, and in the face of intense opposition from other horse interests in any way injured by his plant, year by year finding the demand for his pure and half blood French Coach colts steadily increasing. All these years Mr. Sanborn has not sought the market, but devoted his energies to perfecting his farm for the production of the high class, first-class road horse, and the market has been seeking him. In the show ring no man has been so successful, for no one else has had the goods of like quality. The record of his winnings at horse shows and exhibitions is unequalled. More than this, he has met exhibitors who, by the lavish use of money, have purchased the cream of the continent, and in the champion and breeding classes the honors have been his. In this the State of Maine has been honored, for it is a State establishment. Now, added honors come to the State. The government of New Brunswick, alert to encourage its farmers to breed better stock, made a liberal appropriation at its late session for the purchase of the best horses to be found of the classes most desired in the market, and on Friday Mr. Sanborn sold two grand stallions to go to New Brunswick, selected by the Commissioner of Agriculture, Hon. L. J. Farnham. The fact that a breeder is producing what other governments want to purchase for the improvement of their stock is an honor to the State and reflects added credit upon Elmwood Stud Farm.

The stallions selected were L'water, an 8-year-old standing 16 hands high and weighing 1,250 lbs., by L'othaire, dam Clementine; and Galloway, a 6-year-old, 16 hands, weighing 1,200 lbs., by Gemara, dam Regardine. No better blood can be found than is represented in these colts. They trace directly to the choicest long distance trotting families of France, race winners for generations. The wisdom of this purchase will never be called in question and on the farms of New Brunswick these horses will produce what the excellent stock of the future will demand. We congratulate the officials on the selection made and Mr. Sanborn on having so completely demonstrated the wisdom of his first choice in breeding and the certainty of his position as a breeder of the best blood horses in existence. Beyond this another important sale has been made that of the grand 3-year-old Le Baron by L'othaire, dam Clementine, a 16-hand horse, of royal action, purchased by Frederick Kimball of West Kennebunk. He is one of the choicest stallions ever standing in the State and York county will be the richer for the colts he will produce. In the promised revival of horse breeding Elmwood Farm steps to the front. Gemara, L'othaire, Grandeur, Tartar, Germania, Germania and Louis, all imported, or bred direct from choice imported stock, represent the available blood remaining at the farm, and the 100 half bloods attest the worth of this blood in producing good-sized, saleable horses, the horse wanted by the gentleman of wealth and leisure who is ready to pay well for what pleases his fancy.

BRYANT'S FOND.

S. A. Estes.
S. A. Estes passed away, April 14, age 78 yrs. Mr. Estes had lived the most of his life in Woodstock. His wife died about six years ago, his home was broken up; since then he has lived alone much of the time. He experienced religion when a young man, and it was a reality to him that there was a home prepared for him in the "House of Many Mansions." He leaves a son, Harry M., and a grand-daughter, Augusta Crawford, of Lancaster, N. H., and a sister, Mrs. Abbie Dunham. Mr. Estes will be missed by many friends who have been used to meeting him in religious meetings.

The funeral of Sullivan Estes was held at the Baptist church, Saturday afternoon, under the charge of the Masonic Lodge of which the deceased was a member.

Lessmore Currier has moved into Chas. Dunham's rent.

John Welch of Rumford Falls was at Frank Gushman's over Sunday.

W. G. Morton has gone to Mechanic Falls to go into trade. There is a good chance for some trader in the store here just vacated at the Pond.

Mrs. Emma Estes, of Portland, and Mrs. Augusta Crawford, of Lancaster, N. H., were in town on Saturday, to attend the funeral of S. A. Estes.

Norman McAllister of the standing army who is stationed at Fort Williams, Portland, was at his mother's, Mrs. Ed. W. Cole's, for a few days this week.

Myrtle Bacon of Portland is spending a week's vacation with her parents.

Maud Stevens is attending Shaw's Business College at Portland and rooms with Miss Bacon.

Franklin Grange Dramatic Club presented the drama, "Little Trump," at Dunham's Hall, West Paris, Saturday evening, to a crowded house.

Schools in the Whitman, Chase, village and Pinhook districts commenced Monday morning under the instruction of the following teachers:

Whitman—Richard Keeler.
Village grammar—Emma Dunn.
Primary—Florence Day.
Chase—Stella M. Bacon.
Pinhook—Lena Carey.
Gore—May Stevens.

Mrs. S. H. Eaton and daughter Florence spent Saturday with friends in Lewiston.

George Jones and Leander Wardwell were on a fishing trip at Sebago lake a part of last week.

Mrs. Hall of Mechanic Falls was the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. A. DeLai, during last week.

Mrs. George Hazen has spent the past week at Bolster's Mills with her mother, who is seriously ill.

A ball in Robinson Hall, Wednesday evening. Ice cream was on sale, furnished by the K. of P. Sisterhood.

About twenty five members of the Pythian Slaves will visit the Assembly at Bethel, Friday evening.

About twenty ladies spent Monday evening in Norway as guests of the Ladies' Relief Corps. A good time was reported by all.

Romantic Ideals Brushed Away.

The romantic ideals of seventy-five in a class in anthropology at the University of Chicago received a shock at the hands of Prof. Frederick Starr. The professor in a class lecture bluntly declared that the wedding ring was a relic of barbarism, an absolutely useless survival of the culture of primitive people.

"Undoubtedly," said the professor, "the wedding ring is a beautiful example of barbaric traditions, living in this modern twentieth century and filling no function whatsoever. Perhaps one of you can tell me the origin of the use of the wedding ring?" He received no answer from the seventy-five young women.

"The wedding ring represents the nose ring, ankle or manacle by which in past ages the sold slave was led away from the mart by his new master," he continued "but every one to-day knows that a woman, when she is given a ring to symbolize the wedding sacrament, is by no means a slave."

The dress coat was also included in Professor Starr's crusade against "Relics of Barbarism." Turning to the men of the class he asked, "What is the origin of that abominable garment, the dress coat?" Nothing less than the hunting coat of our ancestors, who divided the tails of the long frock coats, cut away the front, sewed buttons in the back to hold up the tails and used the coat for a hunting jacket. Now why is the servant dressed in the conventional evening costume, wear out the old hunting coats of his master?"

BARRETT.

Ethel Morrill is at work for Mrs. Dobie at West Sumner.

Mont Hollis has moved on his farm that he bought of Mr. Noyes.

Alice Davenport is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Jennie Bonney, this week.

Mrs. Ryerson visited her daughter, Mrs. Emma Hollis, last Friday.

Inez Redding of Redding passed, last week, with her friend, Fannie Sewall.

BETHEL.

Grover Hill.
Bion Browne is at home on a vacation. Marion E. Bennett is again teaching at Greenwood City.

Grover Bros. will load timber at West Bethel, this week.

A. J. Peaslee from South Bethel called at N. A. Stearns' Sunday.

We notice that Levi N. Bartlett has a new two-horse farm wagon.

W. H. Hutchinson has been at work for A. Van Don Kerckhoven.

Mrs. A. L. Whitman conveys the scholars to and from the Flat school, this term.

Arbor Day, which is May 1st, will be observed at West Bethel Flat by Miss Hammons and her school.

Walter M. Browne is visiting his daughter, Mrs. L. A. Savin, at East Watford, at the present time.

Herbert Ring and wife and Allen Cole and family from Greenwood moved into E. S. Kilborn's Peaslee house. We learn that Mr. Ring has taken the contract to clear the wood and timber on the farm, and will remain on the place about a year.

The academy ball team opened the season, Saturday, by defeating Bridgton academy in a well played game by a score of 5 to 3. The honors in batting were about even, but Gould's easily led in fielding. Gould was obliged to try several new men, and their defeat of so strong a team thus early in the season augurs well for the future.

It is reported that the Emerson shoe manufactory of Brockton, Mass., will move its factory to Bethel. This shoe business is owned by R. B. Grover, who was born in Norway, but lived most of his boyhood and youth in Bethel, and was educated there. He has become a man of much wealth in this world's goods. Oxford county hopes he may establish this industry here.

Walton Wight is improving.

Fred Clark is enlarging his buildings.

Myron Pillsbury is home, sick with mumps.

Mrs. H. C. Barker has recently been very sick.

Mr. Lord, a new hotel man, came into the place, a few days ago, with six fine teams for his livery business.

L. W. Kilgore will have an auction at his late premises at North Newry, Saturday, April 26. Changed from May 10th.

The town has purchased a new road machine and will test its value in a few days. The roads are in bad condition, this spring.

Commissioner S. B. Twitchell had a crew of men, last week, opening and repairing the culverts and sewerage in town, which had been damaged by frost during the winter.

ALBANY.

Good Time at the Circle.
The ladies' circle met with Mrs. James A. Kimball, the 17th, where they were entertained in a royal manner. There were seventy present. The afternoon and evening were pleasantly spent in social chat, interspersed with music.

The three Andrews brothers of Watford were present with two violins and a cornet and joined with Hazel Kimball who presided at the organ, giving all lovers of music a treat which we seldom get. There were several pieces of vocal music rendered by the choir, also songs by A. S. Cole. Roy Wardwell sang a song, "The Jolly Farmer," and created much merriment, after which the young people spent an hour in play. All went home feeling that this day had made one bright spot in their memory.

Tillson Burk of Bethel was in town afterveal calves, Monday.

A. G. Bane sold two cows, Saturday, to Simon Grover of Stoneham.

Particular People.

All discriminating people when going to Chicago travel by the Grand Trunk Railway. The "International Limited," leaving Montreal at nine a. m., and returning at five p. m., lands the traveler in the Windy City at seven twenty next morning, invariably on time to the minute. The accommodation on that train leaves nothing to be desired. [Toronto Truth.]

Her inconsistency. First tramp: Women is cur's critters, anyhow. Second tramp: What's the trouble, now? First tramp: Well, dere's dat ole lady says: My good man, here's a tract, an' she gives me a tract what's not for a good man at all, but for de wust kind of a sinner.

Silk Definitions.

Moire Louise—Watered effect on Louise weaves.

Peau de gant—Silk with a glove kid finish.

Satin Liberty—A richly soft weave without dressing, suggested to Mr. Liberty by the heavy, languorous weaves of the East.

Gros de Londres—A satiny cross between taffeta and gros-grain.

Moire Velour—A watered silk, filled with wool, and so heavy as to resemble velvet.

Chameleon Liberty—A sheer, changeable silk.

Shantung—Pongee, so called from its native place.

Tussore—A much heavier and sometimes figured Oriental weave, also the natural color. It may be dyed figured in white.

Satin Foulard—A satin finished twill, light weight.

Peau de Cygne—Rich weave, not heavy, suggestive of the swan's lovely coat (skin in the translation).

Crepe de Chine—Fine silk Chinese crepe.

Satin de Chine—A bit heavier with a satin finish.

Peau de Soie—Leather finished effect. Louise—A repousse weave.

Habutai—China silk.

Chambre Gauze—Cobweb-like gauze, printed with satin stripes.

Poult de Soie—A very heavy gros-grain with low satin finish; the name refers to its splendid weight.

Taffeta—A fine, smooth weave, which has been subjected to pressure and heat.

Character Sketches.

From Here, There and Everywhere.

A tragedy in one act. Mrs. before her mirror in her boudoir. Enter Miss, crying.

Mrs.—My dear child, what is the matter?

Miss—Jack is going to make me a birthday present of a bracelet with 19 diamonds set in it.

Mrs.—And are you crying because you are to have 19 diamonds?

Miss—No, mamma dear, I cry because I have lost five diamonds.

Mrs.—Child, explain yourself.

Miss—Jack called and said he was going to give me the bracelet on my birthday, next week, and wanted to put a diamond in it for each year that I had lived. It was a terrible struggle, mamma dear, and I had to sacrifice five diamonds.

Mrs.—My thoughtful eldest born, you did well. A year of youth to a woman; on this is a gem of more value than a diamond.

Curtain.

"I am a stranger here, sir. Can you direct me to a first-rate church?"

"Oh, yes. Right round the corner."

"What sort of a preacher have they?"

"A very good man."

"Interesting?"

"Intensely so."

"Eloquent?"

"Very."

"The best preaching in town, I suppose?"

"Unquestionably."

"What's the preacher's name?"

"Ah, my friend, that is a question which modesty forbids me to answer."

Her inconsistency. First tramp: Women is cur's critters, anyhow. Second tramp: What's the trouble, now? First tramp: Well, dere's dat ole lady says: My good man, here's a tract, an' she gives me a tract what's not for a good man at all, but for de wust kind of a sinner.

FRYEBURG.

A Former Fryeburg Girl.
The following is from a Haverhill, Mass., paper:

A charming reception was given Mary Buzzell of Stoneham by Mrs. D. C. Hunt and Mrs. N. J. Hunt at the home of the former, Sagamore Sq. Miss Buzzell, who is a native of Fryeburg, and formerly a teacher in the academy there, but now teacher of French in Stoneham High School, gave a talk entitled, "The Journal of a Journey," it being the story of her experiences on a trip through England. Some of the places described were Chester with the Cathedral, Warwick Castle and Stratford-on-Avon. It was a delightful talk by an engaging speaker.

Nervousness and Nerve.

The more nervous a man is the less nerve he has. That sounds paradoxical—but it is so; for nerve is stamina.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives nerve. It tones the whole system, perfects digestion and assimilation, and is therefore the best medicine a nervous person can take.

If you get tired easily, mentally or physically, take it—it will do you good.

McAllister-Elles.

Married Wednesday, Apr. 9, at the residence of the bride's parents, Nettie Belle Files, daughter of John C. and Annie Files, and Elmer G. McAllister, both of Stoneham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Pond, pastor of the Congregational church at East Stoneham.

A reception was given at the residence of Ephraim McAllister, Apr. 12. There were about 80 friends of the bride and groom present.

The bride was very neatly attired, her dress, being of blue cashmere trimmed with white silk. The evening was pleasantly passed. Games were played by the young people, and all reported a good time. A treat, consisting of cake, confectionery and peanuts, was served.

The guests departed at a late hour after hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. McAllister and good wishes for their future prosperity.

Following is a list of the presents: Mr. and Mrs. John C. Files—bedding. Clarence Files—lamp. Johnnie Files—handkerchief. George Files—handkerchief.

HEALTH IS YOURS!

Sore Throats.

Wonderful Remedy that Cures in Few Minutes.

Minard's Liment

Minard's Liment Manufacturing Co., in Boston, has never solicited a testimonial from the many people who use the Liment; neither have they ever asked any one to buy. The wonderful remedy simply sells on its own merits.

The personal endorsement of some one who is pleased is better than a dozen advertisements; and it's such kind words as the following that has spread this splendid old, old medicine from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This letter was voluntary on the part of Mr. Werner, and written from the goodness of his heart:

East Corinth, Vt., March 7, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Minard's Liment having equal in my mind, I take it as a pleasant duty to say something about it. I am prompted to do this because of the wonderful cures of sore throat that it has effected for myself, as well as for my wife and children.

Minard's Liment never fails anywhere it is used in time. For throat troubles, sprains, bruises, lameness, corns, or ulcers, neuralgia, and toothache it has no equal. I have tried it and know what I am talking about.

I have introduced Minard's Liment into my home where a remedy was needed, and it has stayed there for years and lives on in my home. It is safer to be without $10 in gold than to be without a bottle of Minard's Liment on your shelf.

Yours, etc., A. P. WERNER.

If you use it you will have the same experience. There is not a pain or ache or soreness or lameness that ever attacked the body that can't be cured immediately with Minard's Liment. This is a strong statement, but the Liment warrants it. It costs but twenty-five cents a bottle at all druggists.

THEY CRUSH THE POWERS

This is written in mid-October. The long, oppressive summer is quite gone. Fading leaf, withering tree and the rustling corn, the fields are signs of the season. Fog, frost, rain, snow,—they are coming. You remember last winter; of 1900 and 1901.

The weather was cruel. All the thousands it killed, and the hundreds of thousands it maimed and crippled. Oh, the rough grasp it laid on men at work, women at home, and children in cradle and on cradle.

Coughs that began before Thanksgiving Day are rocking and tearing them still; yes, and growing worse as they dig deeper into the poor, tired throat and lungs.

Many were cured by using Benson's Plaster Plasters. For the coughing and healing power of these Plasters is wonderful. They conquer the complaints.

THAT ARE KILLING THE PEOPLE.

No other plaster, no other medicine or application, can compare with them. Coughs, colds, backache, rheumatism, lumbago, kidney and liver troubles, asthma, influenza, they all go down before Benson's Plasters like a snow image in the sun.

You can't throw money away on a Benson's Plaster. Everybody is going to use them this season. But make certain you get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

Seabury & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N.Y.

FRANK GIBBS CO., Bridgton, Me.

WEST FRYEBURG.

William W. Gray.
News has been received in this place of the death of William W. Gray at Merced, Cal., of paralysis, April 12th. He went to California in the sixties to seek his fortune in the "Golden State." His wife, Orelia Bean of Brownfield, died some years ago. He was a veteran of the Civil war and Captain of his company. His many friends will be sorry to learn of his decease.

Lloyd Stevens took a trip to Portland, Monday, April 21.
H. D. E. Hutchins is doing quite a traffic in cows, this spring.
Mrs. S. Smith is partially recovered from an attack of heart trouble.

Willey Walker of North Conway is doing carpenter work at E. L. Walker's.
Emma Towle has returned home from an extended stay at Chatham and Bridgton.

Ray Ballard is drawing ship timber to the station at Fryeburg for Mr. Demmings.
Mrs. Chas. Waterhouse of Harbor was a guest at her sister's, Mrs. E. L. Walker's, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Gordon of the village called on friends in this vicinity, one day last week.
B. Walker McKee intends planting several acres of sweet corn and will plant also several acres for D. B. Hill.

William E. Munkland of Manchester, N. H., was a guest of his sister, Mrs. D. B. Hill, for a few days last week.
Spring cleaning with its accompanying pleasures of painting and papering is being enjoyed (?) by a number in this section.

The regular meeting of the Stirling Literary Club for April 15th, Mrs. Marion Chandler's was postponed to April 22nd.

Mrs. John Heath is receiving medical treatment at her home for a lingering disease for which she has before been under hospital treatment in Portland.

Arthur Shirley shipped his second car load of potatoes to a Massachusetts market, last week. The farmers sold their potatoes for seventy-five cents per bushel.

Nellie Hardy after spending the winter at Pinehurst, N. C., returned to her home, April 16, and commenced school in Albany, N. H., the following Monday.

Edwin and Elmer Walker are building a hen-house. Good eggs are scarce here, so to follow who raise a number of chickens for the summer market, as well as for their own use.

All the land around and above the Colby house to the ridge road is turned over to pasture, and already a sufficient number of cattle are engaged to insure good increase in growth.

There is something of a demand for horses in this section. Hon. D. A. Ballard has been asked to set a price upon his handsome pair of work horses which have been decorated with the blue ribbon of the fair here.

It is reported that Chester Anderson of South Chatham, N. H., has bought Mr. Towle's farm and buildings, formerly owned and occupied by R. F. Webster and will remove with his wife to the same after Mr. Towle's family leave.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Towle, who have been residents of this section for nearly eighteen years and are contemplating a removal to Fryeburg village, where they lived previously to coming to this place. Mrs. Towle has been an active and enthusiastic member of the Stirling Literary Club since its organization in her own home and she will be greatly missed by the entire club. As neighbors their removal is a matter of regret also.

Fencing has been a fashionable pursuit for a week past and wood piles are being briskly split up, while some farmers are already preparing the land for their early crops. The acreage of sweet corn to be planted will exceed that of previous seasons probably and the high price of western corn last year will have the effect of leading some who have not raised yellow corn of late years to devote an acre or two to this valuable product.

GRAETON.

Resting From Their Labors.
E. I. Brown has 28 horses at his stable in this place. Most of them are valuable draft horses. Fred Kilgore, who is running a farm for Mr. Brown in Sumner, is in town and will take several pairs of them there to work and pasture.

Mertie Brooks is at Andover, attending high school.
Ruth Brown was recently the recipient of a nice bicycle.
